ILS Assessments provides rigorous and cutting edge approaches to defining the qualities people need to succeed - from ability and knowledge, to personality, motivation and values. We ensure that the level of detail and speed matches the business need, whilst always delivering a fair and effective process. ILS Assessments offers a flexible range of sifting tools, from online tests and screening systems to application forms. These are available either as bespoke or off-the-shelf solutions to achieve an effective solution.

ILS Assessments offers the widest range of effective and innovative psychometric tools on the market. Ability tests and personality questionnaires are accompanied by assessments of values, motivation and socialization to provide a comprehensive picture of people's qualities. ILS Assessment's consultants provide a tailored executive assessment service that delivers senior people with the strengths and drive to take your business forward. We work with you to define the qualities required, and run a challenging and impressive process at a range of venues. Interviewing is a much misunderstood and undervalued skill. We offer simple but advanced approaches to this area, delivering materials and training to support your people for the long-term.
